County Redistricting

St. Petersburg has touched the fuse to a political time bomb which may be expected to explode, here and there, in Florida court-houses for many months to come.

In November the voters of Florida approved a constitutional amendment extending the terms of county commissioners to four years, and giving them staggered terms. But what is more, the amendment makes it mandatory for the county commission in each county to redistrict itself on a population basis. In other words, when there is a population shift within a county, the amendment provides the machinery for re-allocating the membership of the county commission to fit the density of population.

St. Petersburg, which is not the county seat, but the populous part of Pinellas county, contends that 75 per cent of the population live in the St. Petersburg area, while only 25 per cent live up-country, with three commissioners to represent them on the county board.

The same situation that obtains in Pinellas county will be found to exist in most of the populous counties of the state. Population density is centered around the larger cities which are represented on the county boards by one member from the district which is laid out on an area basis, with no respect to population.

Other sections of the state will watch with interest the developments in St. Petersburg. Representation in congress is on a population basis, and every so often there is a reapportionment of house seats. Florida has just gained a sixth congressman under the latest reapportionment.

According to a compilation of figures there are 49 counties in the state where a minority of the people elect a majority of the commissioners. According to these figures, 34 per cent of the people of Marion county elect three commissioners. So, it seems, Marion counties have more than a casual interest in what happens in this Pinellas county contest.—Ocala Star-Banner.

Speaking in Palmetto last week, State Representative Jerry Collins, Chairman of the State Legislative committee on economy and efficiency, told a business group that an overhauling of spending methods and a policy of no new revenue are the State's greatest needs.

FINAL NOTICE TO ALL TAXPAYERS PALM BEACH COUNTY

April first is the dead line for filing your application for Homestead Exemption and your Tangible And Intangible Personal Property Returns. If you have not already filed your respective returns, please do so at once and avoid being penalized.

It is my wish to give every taxpayer the full benefit of the Homestead exemption when possible, but I can't do this unless you file your application. Neither can I grant exemptions on household goods and personal effects unless your tangible personal property return is filed by the first of April. Business houses owning stocks of merchandise, individuals owning machinery, etc., should make their returns at once.

I respectfully request your cooperation.

ANTHONY'S

ANTHONY'S SHOES ARE SILENT SALESMEN

This grand old slogan helped put Anthony's store definitely in the minds of the people of South Florida. Different people interpreted the slogan in different ways . . . the negro wheelchair man interpreted it to mean the Anthony's shoes don't squeak!

Anthony's shoes were properly fitted as early in the history of South Florida as any shoes sold. Shoes properly fitted wear one third longer than the same shoes improperly fitted. We bought the best shoes money and experience could buy. We added the element of proper fitting so that customers would get better wear and more comfort.

The same customers came back year after year for more of the same shoes . . . hence the shoes sold themselves and became silent salesmen.

Make Anthony's your headquarters when in town!

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Visiting Sebring for the first time since the war, I found the community, like most others, as busy as a two-headed seal in a school of fish, highways were crowded with heavily laden fruit trucks, hotels were filled and business establishments generally prosperous.

Although in the heart of one of Florida's foremost citrus producing areas, I was unable to get grapefruit for breakfast. When I queried the cafe manager, he explained that he was so short of help that there was no one to prepare it. I settled for a glass of canned juice.

always agree on certain questions, and quite often he will feature my "Solomon in his Highlands County News" and an editorial along side of it pointing out how wrong I am. I give the boy credit for being fair and I am perfectly content to let the reader compare both sides of the argument and form his own opinion.

A student of world history, Nate has delved into just about everything written on the subject and unless you are sure of yourself as to what happened and when, you'd better find something else to discuss.

Rod Arkell, publisher of the Shoring American, is back on the job after spending considerable time as a radio newscaster in New York. Rod has a good radio voice and delivery and his programs were popular. I imagine it won't be long before he is at it again.

Driving south from Sebring, you traverse a roller coaster highway until you leave the highlands and hit the prairie country. Florida is truly a wonderful State with an amazing variety of fauna, flora and scenery. Entering the Glades country you find yourself in altogether a different world. The sandy light soils are gone and here you find heavy black muck.

Moore Haven, County Seat of Glades, nestles on the shores of mighty Lake Okechobee but no longer fears its wind driven waves, thanks to the protective dike constructed by United States Engineers.

Found Carr Settle, publisher of the Moore Haven Democrat, La Belle News and Clewiston News at the Town Hall and dragged him away from a meeting long enough to say "Hello". Carr is sporting a new shirt made from Florida ramsie and is the envy of everyone in town.

And while we are on the subject of ramsie, it looks like this fibre crop is destined to replace much to Florida's agricultural and industrial development. Thousands of acres are already under cultivation and I am informed that the problem of decortication has been licked and we are now able to provide textile manufacturers with the fibre in a suitable form for their use.

The Everglades is indeed a vast empire, possessing resources that have hardly more than been scratched. Research carried on by the United States Sugar Corporation is constantly opening new and greater opportunities for development. Shortly the new starch plant will begin operation and the Randle is developed, textile mills will undoubtedly locate in this area.

The southeastern shore of the Lake is still the State and nation's leading producing area for winter vegetables. Palm Beach County, you know leads the country in agricultural production. Belle Glade, Pahokee and Canal Point are growing like weeds. Newspapers are more a hobby than a business with publishers Paul Karlin and Luther Jones. Paul is County Commissioner for the district and takes his job seriously, even if it does interfere with getting out his newspaper, the Everglades News at Canal Point and the Belle Glade News. Luther Jones is primarily a farmer and has long been active in civic affairs. Right now his greatest concern is to secure additional funds for the Agricultural Experiment Station in the Everglades, but he does manage to spend a little time in his Belle Glade Herald office.

Roads in the area are being improved and a large percentage of cross-State travel between Tampa and Miami is now going via the Lake and Road 26. The proposed Bee-Line Highway, when completed, will carry travel from Tampa to West Palm Beach and Miami via the north end of the Lake on a route from Sebring to Okechobee and Indian Town, opening up another vast section of this rich and fertile country.

Reaching the East coast at West Palm Beach, you encounter another startling change of scenery as different from the Scenic Highlands and the flat Glades as black is from white. Beautiful as ever this famed playground of the nation greets you from a setting of unsurpassed floral beauty; modern buildings glisten in the brilliant sun and a warmth of Florida hospitality beckons the visitor welcome even if it can't always tell him where he might find a room.

Maj. L. Cunningham has been appointed commandant of cadets at the Florida Military Academy, St. Petersburg. It was announced this week by Col. Walter B. Mendel, president of the organization. Prior to taking this post, Maj. Cunningham was in charge of Third Air Force's physical training, covering its 40 sub-bases.

AIRACOBRAS TESTED ON SINCLAIR PENNSYLVANIA MOTOR OIL

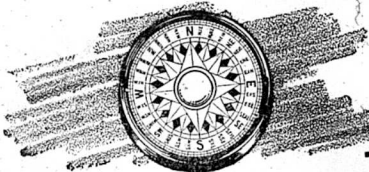

When Bell Airacobras, deadly pursuit planes, are given the works on test flights their 1150 horsepower Allison engines are kept safely lubricated with Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil—the same quality Sinclair Pennsylvania sold by your nearby Sinclair Dealer.

Now that your car must last longer, keep it safely lubricated with the same quality oil that protects the Airacobra's engine at 895 m.p.h. Have your Sinclair Dealer drain and re-fill your crankcase with Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil every 1,000 miles. It lasts so long it saves money as well as your engine.

Cinematic Chatter

By Malcolm Millar

From orchestra row I can give you this week my impression of the show "Song of the Open Road" which stars Edgar Bergen and "Charlie" McCarthy, and Benita Granville, Sam W. C. Fields, Sammy Kaye and his Orchestra and introducing Jane Powell.

Bergen and his stooges, McCarthy and Elmer had a few funny lines in the show, but not enough to warrant starting them with billing over the head of Jane Powell. W. C. Fields came in for a few minutes with his brand of "red nose" comedy and Sammy Kaye and his boys did a few songs with the music. Benita Granville did her best in her part and all other characters gave very good performances.

You will like this show, and I know you'll be wild about this Powell kid, so date this one, "Song of the Open Road," this coming Sunday-Monday.

It's been a long time since we have seen slap-happy comedy, Elliott and his sidekick George "Gabby" Hayes in Hidden Valley Outlaws, which will be up to the standard of the run-of-the-mill Elliott Westerns.

Signing off, the "7th War Loan

Carrillo, Andy Devine, Lon Chaney and Gloria Jean.

On the same program comes "Trocadero" which stars Rosemary Lane and Johnny Downs and features Ralph Morgan, Dick Purcell and Sheldon Leonard.

Of course there is a plot to this show, but most of the piece has to do with the entertainment in a swanky night club. There are plenty of humorous situations and bits of snappy gags, with song numbers and dancing ensembles that I am sure you'll enjoy.

Thursday-Friday should be a show that will be of interest to all of you for it is another in the series of The Invisible Man, which you will recall were very good. This one is "The Invisible Man's Revenge" and it stars Jon Hall and Evelyn Ankers and features Leon Errol, John Carradine, Alan Curtis, Gale Sondergaard. It is said to be a very interesting with a very well written story and an excellent cast to unroll the tale.

Short subjects and the news reel round out this interesting show.

Saturday brings "Wild" Bill Elliott and his sidekick George "Gabby" Hayes in Hidden Valley Outlaws, which will be up to the standard of the run-of-the-mill Elliott Westerns.

Signing off, the "7th War Loan

Drive" opens in May. . . . Buy more bonds than ever. . . . The boys are fighting harder than ever. . . . And they need your dollars more than ever.

"THEY CRUCIFIED HIM"

The tragedy of Calvary lies not only in the awful deed of crucifixion that was performed but also, and perhaps more so, in the attitude of Jesus' enemies who sought to get rid of Him. Often that is the case of sin; the actual deed is not nearly so bad as the motive.

Many times the motive is what makes the deed so bad. No wonder that Jesus came with a message directed to the very roots of sin. If you and I had lived in the time of Christ, we would have had little difficulty in determining the friends and foes of Jesus. Today it is difficult because so many "pretend" to be friendly and prove many times to be very unfriendly. Of course, our Lord knoweth their hearts, but I only wish that they would realize this fact; however just like their hypocrisy so is their heart-ignorant. . . . and Friends, ignorance is sin!

Jesus prayed for His murderers, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." Their ignorance need divine forgiveness and anything that needs forgiveness is sin. We sin even in our ignorance to ask forgiveness.

Christ's accusers didn't know they needed forgiveness but that didn't alter the situation. A man might think he's taking cough medicine when actually he is taking poison—the poison doesn't become medicine just because he thinks it is. Likewise sin is sin regardless of what we might like to believe. And no sin has been so small but that it hasn't needed the Calvary. nor has any sin been too vile but that Calvary doesn't become arms of love and forgiveness for it. Think only of the very men who drove the spikes into the hands of our Lord. Even for them did the cross spell salvation if only they would accept. Yes, Calvary is the only sufficient hope for all the world, and because it is the foundation for hope, the tragedy becomes beautiful. By it we find life, joy, and peace such as no man can take from us.

Meet Aunt Emily...

ENEMY AGENT!

SUCH a nice little old lady, too! The last person in the world you'd suspect of having any truck with the enemy! Matter of fact, Aunt Emily doesn't realize it herself.

Aunt Emily, unfortunately, can't keep things to herself. Bursting with importance, she just has to tell her next-door neighbor that her nephew Jim of the 10th Engineers at overseas is coming home on a special 30-day furlough on the rotation plan.

In good faith her neighbor passes the news along to the grocer — and in due time this single bit of information comes to the ears of an enemy agent who knows how to use it to harm our victory drive.

Enemy agents, desperate and dangerous, may still be among us. The penalty of careless talk is great. Ships, war equipment, thousands of men, a crucial battle can yet be lost because of a single, unguarded remark you make today.

Don't let our hard won victories lull you into carelessness. Keep all vital information to yourself. Remember . . . what the enemy doesn't know won't hurt you, or your country!

Sometimes... there just isn't room for everyone

No one regrets more than we do that sometimes there just isn't room on our trains for all who want to go north at this season of the year. This is due to a combination of circumstances beyond our control.

1. More people than usual came to Florida this winter in spite of government statements as to travel difficulties.
2. A large percentage of the space on all our northbound trains is required for military use, greatly reducing the travel space available for civilians.

3. Due to the war, we can not operate extra cars or extra trains for non-military purposes, as we did during peacetime.

4. An increasing number of battle-scarred veterans, hospital cases and their attendants must be given Pullman space, often on short notice, even to the extent of vacating civilians from accommodations to make room for them.

We ask your patience in facing this wartime difficulty, and sincerely regret any inconvenience it may cause you.
